Press Release

New free service being provided by the Crescent City Police Department. "Dogs Detecting Drugs Discreetly"

Crescent City, CA June 18, 2009: A new service will be available to residents and business owners in Crescent City starting June 30, 2009. "Dogs Detecting Drugs Discreetly" is a service provided by the Crescent City Police Department as another tool to combat the spread of drugs in both the home and the workplace. Parents, guardians and business owners can contact the Crescent City K-9 Supervisor to schedule an inspection by one of the city's highly trained and post certified K-9 units to provide a discreet, non-confrontational inspection of the home or business if drug use is suspected. This new service is just one more component of the tool kit designed to aid parents, business owners, educators and law enforcement in their cooperative effort to eliminate illegal drug use in the community.

This service is made possible through donations by the community to support the Crescent City Police Department's K-9 program. Donations for the K-9 program can be mailed to Crescent City Police Department at 686 G Street, Crescent City CA 95531, phone number 707-464-2133.
